Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The claims are replete with indefiniteness that is too numerous to point out in every instance. The following examples are provided for the applicant use in making corrections wherever appropriate but not specifically pointed to.

Regarding claim 1, there is lack of antecedent basis for the limitation "the sliding surface".

Regarding claim 2, it is not clear whether the rib is a the full width on the side of the sliding surface since the claim recites the rib "may be" a part of the full width on the side of the sliding surface.

Regarding claims 4 and 5, the claim recites "upper/lower"; however, it is not clear if the upper or lower notches or the upper and lower notches are formed on the shank portion.

Regarding claim 6, it is not clear if the tooth is set into the receiving channel as result of on of the ridges or all of the ridges of the bracket.

Regarding claim 7, there is lack of antecedent basis for the limitation "the carbide tip of the tooth".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 2, 3 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Duwe et al (US Patent 6,261,032) or Friedmann (US Patent 5,150,992).

Duwe or Friedmann reads on the structural limitations of the claimed device including a tooth (1 or 2, respectively) and a holding bracket (15 or 1, respectively).

Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Hecht (US Patent 6,565,292).

Hecht reads on the structural limitations of the claimed device as shown in figure 1 including the carbide tooth (18) and the holding bracket (fig. 1, 16). It should be noted that it is well known in the art that a cutting insert tooth is made of carbide.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3725

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 4 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Duwe et al (US Patent 6,261,032) or Friedmann (US Patent 5,150,992).

Duwe and Friedmann teach most of the elements of the claimed invention except for a second pair of notches on the shank portion of the tooth. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have a second pair of notches on the shank portion of the tooth, since it has been held that mere duplication of the essential working parts of a device involves only routine skill in the art. St Regis Paper Co. v. Bemis Co., 193 USPQ 8.
